At Saint Mary's University of Minnesota, we value the safety of each member of our community. This document has been developed with you in mind. While the intent is to be comprehensive, additional personal safety precautions (to be determined by you, the individual) are recommended.

EMERGENCY NUMBERS

- Minneapolis Police/Fire/Medical Emergency 911
- Text to 911 -This service will allow individuals to text their emergency to dispatch if they are unable to call or it is unsafe to call
- If you are outside of Minneapolis city limits, but need an immediate Minneapolis Police response, call 612-348-2345

MINNEAPOLIS CAMPUS SECURITY SERVICES

- 612-720-0417 (mobile phone monitored during business hours)
- Press the pre-programmed security button
- A security radio is located in each building

At Saint Mary's, a university safety and security committee is in place to review and discuss safety and security policies and update, engage in training, and implement the university's Emergency Response Plan. In addition, the committee works to mitigate crime and security risks on campus and conducts periodic threat assessments and emergency drills.

Saint Mary's University contracts its security services with GardaWorld Security Services. The security staff is available to provide non-emergency escorts from buildings to vehicles. The security staff is available by radio, located at each building's main entry reception desk, by calling 612-720-0417, or by pressing the pre-programmed security button from any campus phone.

Guards will wear yellow safety vests during their shifts. This helps identify the guards to students, faculty and staff, and would-be criminals, especially when it is dark. One guard, if not more, will be posted visibly at the entrance of the LSH and BLH lots when classes are in session. If there are no evening classes in BLH, the building will be locked. Guards are required to communicate via radio when staff, faculty, or students are traveling between buildings. Guards carry flashlights so in the event there is a suspicious vehicle or person, they can use the flashlights to let them know they are watching.

NOTIFICATION SYSTEMS

Blackboard Connect

The university's emergency communication system is the primary means of emergency notification. All students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to sign up for text and voicemail alerts to receive notifications regarding emergencies at the university. This system is intended for immediate transmission of specific information regarding an emergency to all areas of the university, including campus closure due to severe weather.

Through this notification system, information may be sent via voice messages to provided home, work, and mobile phone numbers; emails to email addresses; text messages to mobile phone, PDA, and other text-based devices; and TTY/TDD receiving devices for the hearing impaired. Voice messages and emails are not optional and will be delivered to the contact information you provide. To receive text messages, you must register your mobile phone.

To ensure Saint Mary's University of Minnesota has the most up-to-date contact information, please verify and update your emergency contact information in the Student Portal or the Faculty and Staff Portal.

The Minneapolis Campus Public Address (PA) System

All classrooms are equipped with telephones. In the event of an emergency, the phone system will be used to send a page message to all office and classroom phones.
